Frontier Communication teams across Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina are preparing for the possible impacts of Tropical Storm Colin moving up the East Coast over the next few days. These preparations include the following:

- Equipping fleet vehicles with extra fuel, fluids and lighting.
- Double-checking all safety equipment and supplies used by field technicians.
- Placing emergency network supplies throughout company facilities, including backup generators and fuel.
- Inventorying supplies needed for network restoration in the event of severe weather.

As of 3:00 p.m. ET on Monday, June 6, 2016, no major impacts have occurred to our network. Frontier will continue to evaluate the status of our network and our facilities. Additional notifications will be provided if impacts to our network occur.

If you have questions not answered in this notice, please email Carrier.notifications@ftr.com.